

I am very disturbed by the possibility of more mergers in the communications field. The public needs more varied viewpoints, not less.